

Release Your Money Blocks: Day 4
5 day challenge

Life EMPOWERMENT ·
P R O J E C T .

Day 4: Thinking Like A Multiple 6-Figure Business Owner

There's a version of you in the quantum field (which contains all potentialities), that already has that business you are working toward. The clients, the cash flow, the reputation, the results, etc.

The only difference between you and her is the internal world. She thinks differently, so takes different action, has built different habits, and so has created different results. You're progressing toward her steadily, but every decision you make as your current self – i.e. from scarcity or from your current habits – stops that progression and keeps you stuck firmly where you are.

When you connect to the bigger picture, that long-term vision, you can make those bigger decisions that will lead you there even quicker, with ease. One of the things I always relay to our clients is that you're ALWAYS going to be challenged in one way or another. When you are focused only on immediate results and short-term gratification, those challenges seem utterly insurmountable. When you connect to that long-term vision and the bigger picture of what you're creating and the life you're setting up for yourself, those challenges minimise – seeming more like bumps in the road than impassable blocks.

Money is your vehicle. When you step out of scarcity and into that mindset of a multiple 6-figure business owner, you recognise that. It's never about the money; it's about what the money can help you to have/experience/do. Money can help you to shortcut your journey to everything you want, but it's never the end goal.

When I started Life Empowerment Project, which branched off another of our businesses, there were huge gaps in my knowledge that needed filling. I had a big vision of where I wanted it to go, but I knew if I wanted that to happen any time soon, I had a lot to learn and even more to implement. So I invested. $35,000 in around 4 months. And the year before, I'd earned $38,000 in my share of the previous business. That year, I worked my backside off, and because of what I'd learned and implemented, earned multiple 6-figures.

Total breakthrough, but what I realised most was that I was still ME! The money was just the money, but everything I got to experience and share and teach was where the joy really came into it.

With that in mind, enjoy today's workbook questions. They are to elicit a whole new perspective and way of approaching your business (and life!) – to open up possibilities you hadn't thought of before and to create endless options for you as a result.

What is the financial figure you are aiming toward?:

What do you charge per client/package?:

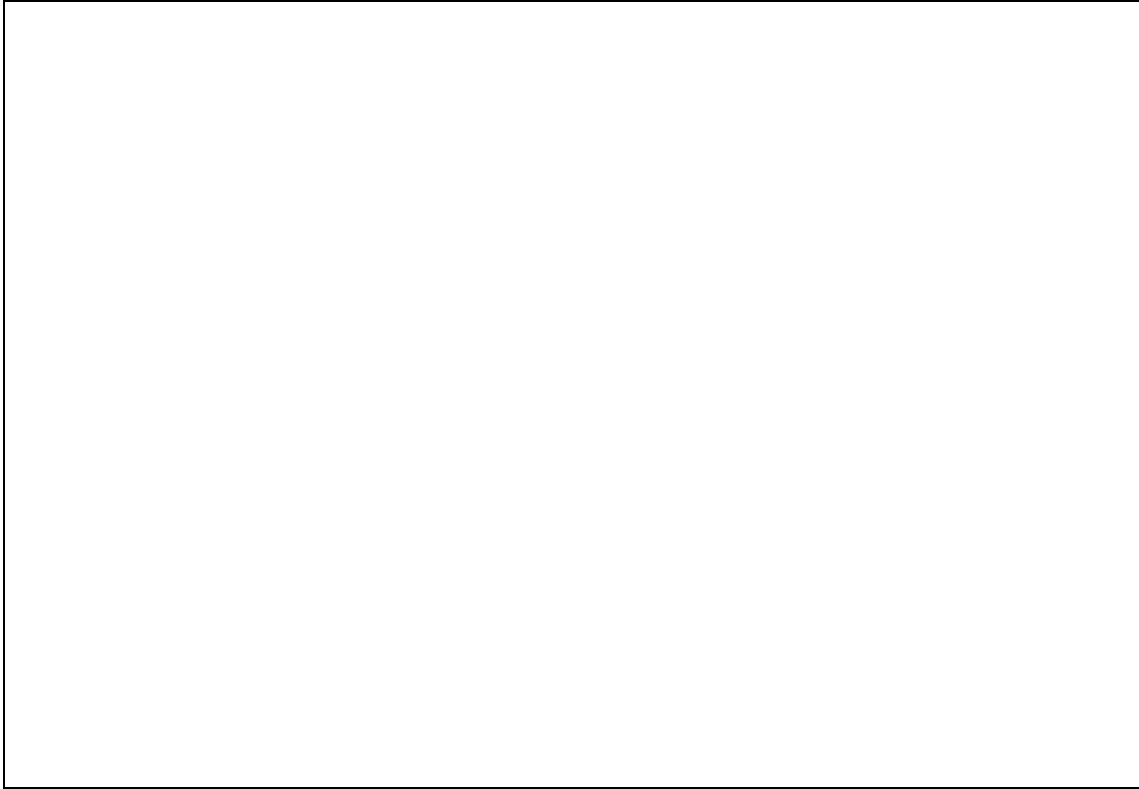

Going off the figures from the previous two questions, how many clients/sales equates to your financial figure being met?:

If I told you you had to double your prices right now, in what ways would you add value to your current services in order to make the new financial requirement a no-brainer for your clients?:

How do you currently serve clients?: i.e. 1:1, 1:many workshops, 1:many group programs, etc

Within your current model, how many more clients can you look after whilst maintaining the level of service AND your own sanity/social life/balance?:

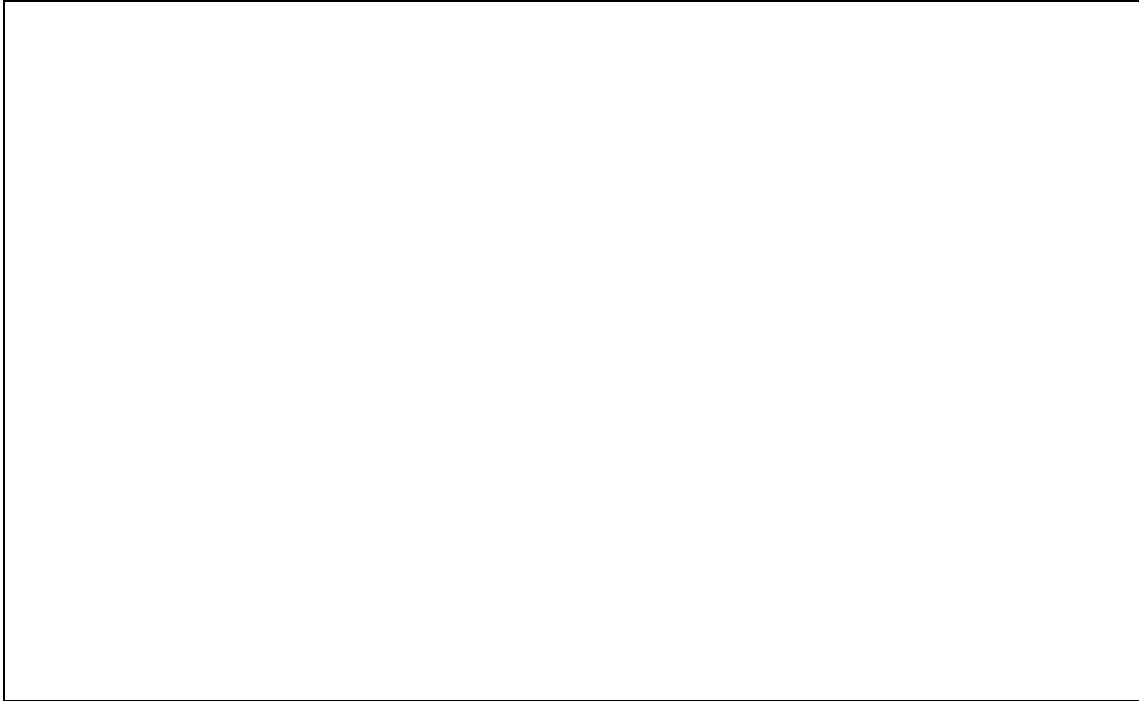

How can you add more value/solve more problems/serve on a higher level within your current model of delivery?:

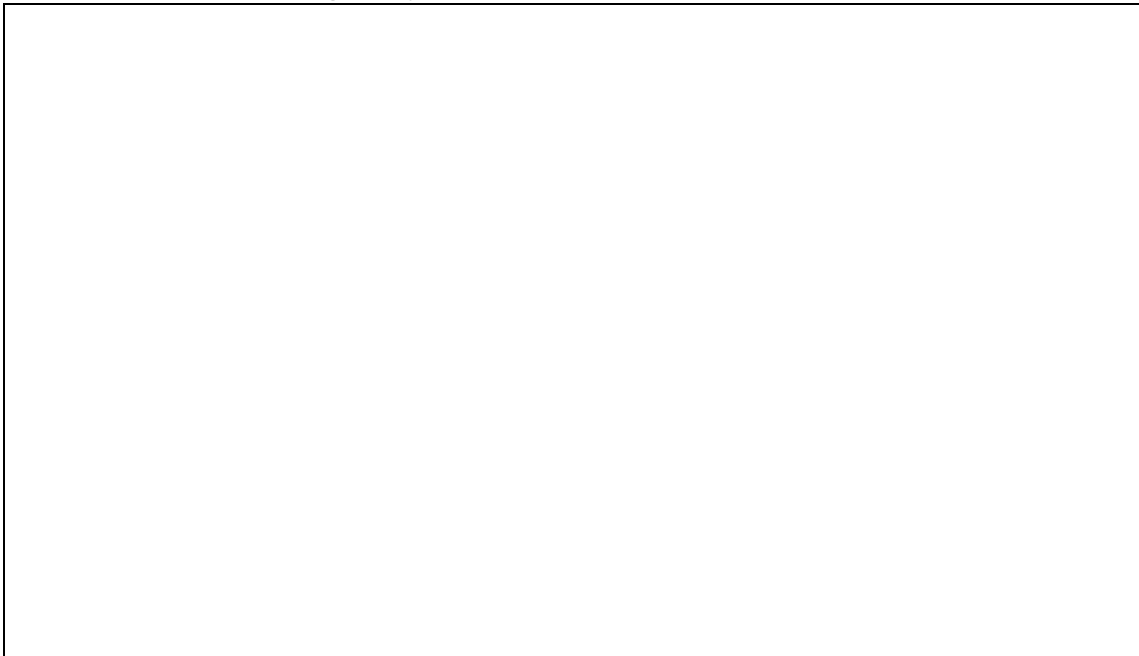

What could you alter within your current delivery model that allows you more time and the capacity to serve more clients without the time demand?:

When you're earning that big figure you're striving for, what do you perceive you'll do differently within your business?:

What do you do within the business that really makes the biggest difference?: i.e. working with your clients, sales, etc.

Off the back of the previous question, what do you do within the business that doesn't actually require you and your specific expertise?: i.e. some of the first things I outsourced were video editing and design work

What is the long-term effect on your business of investing in yourself to get the knowledge, support & accountability to propel your growth?:

And what is the potential financial gain from this, if you really commit yourself to the process?:

What if you just knew that everything you wanted was already on its way to you – what business decisions would you make, what content would you put out there?:

There's also a recording to re-calibrate your mindset and vibrational frequency to this new level – listen to that now, and listen as often as possible to keep attuning you to this new level until it's your new normal!

Then, utilise your journaling prompt for the day (at the bottom of today's lesson page) and the mantra listed below it (the more you use your mantra, the better!!).

See you over in the Facebook group – ask in there and we'll answer any questions you have!!

To your infinite abundance,

Vicky xx